About Events and Sensations in Georgia.

THE BLACK LIST OF ATLANTA.

Big Reward Offered—Major McGregor Recovering—Bermuda Grass—Other Interesting Items.

The Greensboro Journal, turning away from the tariff and kindred subjects, throws out a proposition for digestion in this manner:

Suppose the bermuda lands off Greensboro were given the same attention and care as the cotton fields. Suppose they were as highly measured, well planned, harvested, and, even as the thonging—in short, received, in proportion, the same persistent and unremitting labor as cotton lands, over which our farmers sweat and worry four months in every year—what a revolution would be the result. What a change would it be to have the cotton raised from the farms in Greene! What cozy and comfortable and happy homes would spring up here and there, dotted the hills and nestling in valleys. How strong and lasting would be the draw to the country! How the butter product would be doubled and quadrupled and multiplied indefinitely! But why suppose? It is possible. Make it real. The question is with the farmers. There we leave it.

The Fort Gaines Advertiser says that on Monday afternoon a passer by discovered at Colonel Turnipseed's place, obstructions nailed to the track in such a way that had the train struck them, an accident, a bad one, would have been unavoidable. The road makes a sharp curve at that point, consequently a run off would probably have been attended with fatal results.

The gentleman who discovered them moved the obstruction, thereby preventing a catastrophe, as a good many passengers, several women and children among them, were in the coach. A reward of $300 is offered for the criminal.

The August Chronicle takes to the black list idea. It says:

This is set in the right direction. It puts the onus where it belongs. The prohibition idea was, because John Doe made a beast of himself, no one else should be allowed the use of strong drink. The idea of the ordinance is to prohibit him and his following particular. Just as super, Mr. E. W. Thompson, quite an old man, laid down across the lot of his bed to rest in the Central hotel, he was found dead in his bed. The other said he was a good man, but had not had any drink, and that he did not have but six dollars and some change, and the robber fled out of that amount. Failing to get him, the thief, in his rage, cut off his nose and left him where he lay.

Montgomery Record: Wednesday night at seven o'clock a highway robbery was perpetrated in Dougherty county, about a mile from Snow Spring. Mr. Thompson, of that county, was a passenger in a stagecoach, with his wife and two sons. They had stopped at the door, beyond Monticello, under the direction of Captain L. W. Robert, and the road was generally known.

The thief, a notorious drunkard, is not actually drunk in the time, but rather may be drunk in the time. The Atkins ordinance is a considerable improvement on the state law.

Major McGregor, of Warrenton, has recovered from the wounds received at the hands of some assassin. A reward of $150 by the town, awaits the man who will apprehend the criminal.

Cartersville is out of debt, and has money in the treasury.

Major Hodgeson, of Athens, claims that the business of his town has increased 25 per cent during the last year.

The coming session of Oconee court will be held in one of the churches of Watkinsville.

Mr. G. R. Hutchens, mayor of Tallapoosa, aged 22, is declared to be the youngest mayor in the country.

Says the Cumming Clarion:

A Planter Suffers at the Hands of an Incendiary.

BLAKELY, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—Mr. W. A. Evans, near Cedar Springs, one of the most thorough going planters of the county, had the start of his corn cribs by fire on the night of the 11th instant, containing several hundred bushels corn, besides a quantity of oats, fiddler, etc.

The fire, when discovered about one o'clock, was, however, put out, but the heat of the burning was so great that the contents of the buildings was lost. It was with difficulty that several head of fine stock were rescued from the stable attached to the cribs.

The origin of the fire as yet remains a mystery, but it is generally presumed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The Hawkinville Firemen.

HAWKINVILLE, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—At a well-attended firemen's meeting, F. H. Bozeman was re-elected chief of F. H. Bozeman's fire department Friday night. F. H. Bozeman was re-elected chief, R. C. Jordan made assistant chief and Jim Whitfield secretary of the department. Immediately after the adjournment, the members of the department, including the fire chief, marched to the firehouse, and found tracks going down the road and followed them until they turned into the woods. Mr. Thompson and the family are positive that both of the robbers are white men.

FIRE IN EARLY COUNTRY.

The press is in the same of Messrs. John C. Hallman and Marcellus B. Hallman, of Atlanta, and Samuel J. Hallman, of Arkansas, on Sunday last, made us of other days when they were boys full of the pluck that has enabled them to become famous and take rank in society with the best. Welcome, boys, to your old home.

Sandy Ridge, Henry county, has perhaps a greater number of octogenarians than any other district in the county. L. B. Mason, 81 years of age; G. W. Welch, 95; J. S. Black, 87; R. H. Harper, 84; William Woods, 80; W. H. Wilson, 77; Ephraim Shaw, 90. Their aggregate is 590 years.

Mr. J. T. Armstrong has discovered a rich deposit of copper in his Rockland lands, Heard county. Mr. Joe Ware, a miner of considerable experience, pronounces the ore pure.

Dahlonega has decided to run hogs and dogs out of the city.

Mrs. T. O. Skellie, of Houston county, has forty acres in strawberries.

The Quittman Free Press says the mean crop in that section will be increased 33 per cent. The Free Press goes on to say:

Since writing a short article in regard to a case of embezzlement at Quittman, we have received positive assurance that such an enterprise will be in operation before another vegetable season closes. In view of this fact we advise our friends to plant truck, especially turnips, lettuce, turnips, corn, and such vegetables as can be raised.

The work of the year is over, and the sun sets after the shipping season is over can be saved.

You need not fear to plant truck in the vicinity of Quittman. It can all be utilized one way or the other. Plant truck judiciously. You won't be disappointed.

The Albany News has come to the conclusion that "we live too fast." A man is always well off if he manages to bring his expenses within his income; and he who spends more than he makes is poor. It matters not what he may have will soon squander it."

Mr. Henry J. Middleton, the present foreman of the Savannah Morning News' newspaper composing room, Mr. W. H. Young, a compositor in the same room, and Colonel J. H. Estill, the proprietor of the paper, were fellow apprentices in 1851 in the Savannah Evening Journal, published by the late John B. Cuddeback, the first publisher of the News. Mr. B. J. Cuddeback, the general freight agent of the Central railroad was a journeyman in the office of Mr. Estill. He is now in his sixties and resides in New York.

Mr. Hezekiah Hill, a prominent citizen of Brownsville, has decided this morning.

Death of Judge Warner's Son-in-Law.

COLUMBUS, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—Mr. A. W. Hill, an influential citizen of Greene county, died at night, at the age of fifty-seven years of age, and was buried this morning at the lamented Hiram Warner, who, with his nine children, survives him.

Buck Anthony's Snake.

BLAKELY, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—Buck Anthony (colored) who bears an almost national fame for snake stories, reports the killing of his first rattler in the season, measured by the length of the car counting department office of the Central railroad. They held the same position here but were transferred to Savannah.

Mr. Arthur Dasher, formerly of Rutherford, is now connected with the Davenport Company of this place.

Mr. Thomas J. Peoples, of Atlanta, is in the city.

Mr. George E. Mitchell, of Lowell, Mass., and Mr. James B. Walker, of Charleston, are registered at the Hotel Lanier.

Georgia Cocks for Canada.

From the Watkinsville, Ga., Enterprise.

The Site Improved.

BLAKELY, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—The unsightly structure on the west side of the square, heretofore occupied by Messrs. H. C. F. Fudge & Son, recently been torn down, and the foundation stone is now in the ground.

What is known as the Orbelt railroad, from Carrollton to the city of Atlanta, is in progress of construction—it is said by a company represented by Sam Noble, of Atlanta.

The work on the Cedartown, Rome and Carrollton railroad through Polk is progressing rapidly despite the weather.

The Athens Banner is authority for the statement that several years ago, in Oconee county, a girl married at the age of nine years, and before her tenth birthday, became a mother. When married the girl was as well developed as a woman and weighed 346 pounds. Her husband was forty-five years of age. The family were white and moved to Alabama, where they now reside.

Some Political Points.

From the Athens, Ga., Banner.

This will be a lively year in congressional elections, as every where else, Governor John B. Gordon, the leading candidate in this country. That one is Master Gordon Harden, son of Mr. J. M. Harden, a painter of this place. Gordon is now in his fifth year, and three feet high in his stockings, and the same boy now weighs 346 pounds, but he has grown wonderfully in the last eight years—as he only weighed 24 pounds when born.

He is a bright, intelligent little man and we hope he may yet be as great as his illustrious namesake, his appearance, big in big war, (if any there should be) big in peace, and big in the hearts of his people.

A private letter from Tunnel Hill says that the people of that district will urge Mr. W. H. Young to run for Congress. He is a clever fellow, one of our young attorneys, a self-made man, and we have no doubt will find strong sympathy with our people.

From the Cartersville, Ga., Courier.

It is thought there will be a lively fight over the state senatorship in this district, the present year. It is Bartow's turn, and there is plenty of available men. Mr. Joel M. Quittman, who was in the city last Monday. By the way, the judge spoken of is one of the possible candidates for congress from this district during the year. He is and must and will fittingly represent the once-busy seat of the national capital.

There is not a single vacant house in Macon.

During 1887 there were 243 marriages in DeKalb county.

Rev. J. S. Maynard has declined to head the August Knights of labor.

The New Market and Greenville railroads is worth fifty cents on the dollar.

With three warehouses in operation, the cotton receipts of Quittman will be largely increased.

Greensboro has raised the liquor license from $100 to $150. There are three bar-rooms in the city.

The rumor that one passenger train is to be taken of the Georgia Midland railroad is contradicted.

Mr. James Lee, for many years the sole receiver of the Georgia Midland, in Oconee county, died in October.

On last Monday night Uncle Billie Scruggs was elected tax collector and receiver at a general election.

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., JANUARY 16, 1888.

Especially Answered.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION wants the federal whisky tax removed to make way for a state whisky tax. Will it please explain why it will be better as a state tax than as a federal tax?—American Recorder.

It is with pleasure that we answer the question of our contemporary, though it seems to us that the reasons are so apparent why a state tax is preferable to a federal tax, on the articles taxed by the internal revenue laws, as not to require the explanation of the genuine hog's fat of commerce.

We favor the repeal of the internal revenue laws, and in their place state taxation and control of the articles now taxed by these laws.

1. Because such a course is in accord with the principles of the democratic party.

2. Because the internal revenue laws are war measures, passed by congress to raise war funds, and with an overwhelming superplus in the national treasury, there is now no necessity for them.

3. Because these laws have brought untold misery and trouble to hundreds of Georgia homes.

4. Because the state should get the benefit of the taxes now poured into an already overfounding national treasury, thereby becoming able to reduce the state taxes now levied on the farmer, the laborer, the mechanic, the merchant, and all classes of society.

5. Because our indigent confederate veterans should be cared for by the state, which is not now able to do so, but which with the hundreds of thousands of dollars it now annually turns into an already growing national treasury, it could pension them as they deserve.

6. Because such taxation by the federal government, when no necessity therefor exists, is without the sphere of the government's duty, and comes absolutely within the scope of state regulation.

7. Because we are opposed to the government fostering the injurious whisky ring, which grows fat on the oppressive revenue restrictions placed on the people of Georgia and other states.

8. Because the state can better regulate the matter than the government.

9. Because the people of Georgia and the platform of the democratic party, on which President Cleveland was elected, indorse the position of THE CONSTITUTION.

We trust our contemporary is answered. Ask us something harder.

A CORRESPONDENT wants to know why Atlanta has no historical society. Well, the main and overpowering reason is that the pioneers are afraid they would be called on to contribute fifteen cents for some purpose or other.

In our opinion, Mr. Roger Q. Mills, the great democratic leader, would do well to keep his shirt on while the house is in session. He ought not to fly into a passion when his fellow-democrats sit down upon him.

Congressman Stewart and the Excise Taxes.

We are glad to know that the representative in congress from this district impressed with the fact that something ought to be done about the outrageous internal revenue laws. We observe that Mr. Stewart has introduced a bill requiring the judges of district courts to appoint commissioners in each county of their districts, and requiring marshals and other arresting officers to procure warrants before making arrests in certain cases for alleged violation of the internal revenue laws, and directing that persons arrested be carried before the commissioner of the county in which the arrest may be made, and providing a penalty for illegal arrests and illegal seizures of property, and for other purposes. The bill was referred to the committee on the judiciary.

There is only one objection that Congressman Stewart's constituents can have to this bill, but that objection is a fatal one from a democratic standpoint. The bill proposes to deal with the internal revenue system as if the people intended it to be a fixture, but it was never so intended, and any attempt to make it a fixture will never be tolerated by the democratic voters of this country. Least of all will such an attempt be tolerated by the committee on the judiciary.

The law is an outrageous one so far as its operations are concerned, but the people do not want it modified. In accordance with time-honored democratic principles, they want the law repealed and they will be satisfied with nothing less.

Deep down in the democratic heart is the feeling that the federal government has no business, in these piping times of peace, to collect excise taxes that are not necessary to the support of the government. If the people of this country were to rest quietly under the infamous internal revenue system now in operation, they would form a decided contrast to every other people under the sun. If Congressman Stewart will read the history of excise taxes he will discover that wherever they have been imposed the people have paid them grudgingly. The Roman excise was abolished by Caligula, and in commemoration of that event small brass coins were struck, and some of them may be found in collections to this day.

Owing to the tremendous debt that war after war has saddled on England, the people of that country have been compelled to submit to an excise tax for many years, but Blackstone says that "from its first origin to the present time its very name has been odious to the people of England;" and Dr. Johnson, in his dictionary, gives this definition of "excise," namely: "a hateful tax levied upon commodities, and adjudged, not by the common judges of property, but by wretches hired by those to whom excise is paid."

This definition pretty nearly hits the mark even in these times. The internal revenue system of this country, however, bears no relation to the system employed in England. Here it is the Russian method, pure and simple. The tax is unnecessary; and we have no hesitation in saying that there is not a genuine democrat in Congressman Stewart's district who is in favor of perpetuating the excise laws. The perpetuation of this system is opposed to the liberties of the people and it is distinctly opposed to democratic policy.

But even if the perpetuation of the tax were a part of the democratic policy, what guarantee would the people have that the provisions of Congressman Stewart's bill would be permanent?

The simplest, the easiest and the best method of modifying the internal revenue system is to repeal it, and if Congressman Stewart will consult his constituents he will discover that they are almost unanimously in favor of this simple plan. They could not afford to be otherwise.

CONGRESSMAN HATCH, of Missouri, will introduce a bill providing for the labeling and taxing of lard adulterations. It is said that the southern members will vigorously oppose Hatch's bill, for the reason that it will affect lard intermixed with cotton seed oil, which is infinitely more healthful than the genuine hog's fat of commerce.

THE celebrated Thomas Platt, of New York, being out of a job, can now repeat his famous me-toe performance with Conkling.

"The Molech of Education."

Under this caption a writer in the New York Epoch assails the whole system of modern education.

The Epoch writer makes the point that while strong men are refusing to spend more than eight hours a day in physical labor, delicate, growing children are required to spend nearly as much time in mental labor.

The air of the crowded school rooms is unwholesome. Frequent examinations keep the children on a nervous strain.

They grow pale-faced, round-shouldered and feeble. When they leave school the girls are unfit to become wives, and the boys are not strong enough to compete with many men.

This is a serious indictment. It is our opinion it is overdrawn. The young women of the present day have a robust look, and the young men are proficient in athletic sports. But if the Epoch correspondent is right, what remedy would he suggest? The man who proposes to destroy the existing system of education should be ready with an acceptable substitute. If our public schools are an injury to the rising generation, the question is, what shall we take in their place?

"You are silent! The wrongs of the negro of Louisiana touch you but not those at your own door. And yet the people of Oxford would vote to enforce negro rule in Louisiana. Now, in my opinion, Oxford is a good school. It is also illegal, unconstitutional, in every way regrettable, to deny to the south the negro his vote, and it is monstrous injustice to give to the whites there the advantage in representation of this negro vote. But of what value is either of the two to you? What is the greatest if it is? If it is cruel and inhuman, how can I help it? If civilization would perish to allow the ignorant hands south to rule, how dare I to enforce that rule? And if I dared to enforce it, how could I succeed? Were you in power today what would or could you do? Reduce, you say, representation? If that is the case, then I am for it. That part of the fourteenth amendment is dead, killed by the fifteenth amendment. What then, do you propose? A vain and aimless agitation? That is child's play."

BURNING OF A $1,000 BILL.

From the American Magazine.

One of New Orleans' rich and impetuous young men had been playing at the roulette table and losing heavily. His excitement grew more intense as he proposed that he no longer had cent in his purse. He fainted and fumbled in vain with trembling hands all over in his wearing apparel, until, in a profound recess in a huge pocket of his overcoat, he unexpectedly discovered a bank note that seemed to have carefully and providently hidden itself from the general gaze. Evidently this young man had been a victim of the "black mail" system.

"I judge it would be a difficult one to become fearfully difficult in a community where the intelligent white man is cutnumbered five to one by the ignorant field hand."

Then he addressed a friend. In his first speech of the day he had been playing at the roulette table and losing heavily. It was gone.

Of course the old gentleman promised to replace the money as soon as possible, and immediately began investigations to recover the money.

The character previously borne by the young man led many of the neighbors to suspect him, and these suspicions were strengthened by the sudden departure on Thursday of the young man.

Mr. Vine was unable to replace the money he had lost, and was forced to place the matter in the hands of the detectives Reeves and Bedford took to Call Office Thompson, they went to his home yesterday afternoon and placed their testimony before him. The young fellow then acknowledged the whole matter, and turned over all the money he had left.

For the remaining six dollars there was nothing to show except a pair of trousers and a pair of slides. Ben Vine was conducted to the station house, and later in the evening the uncle and mother came to the station house. The mother made frantic appeals, and the old gentleman readily agreed to compromise, if the money could be replaced for the sum of $10.

Mr. Vine was asked if he was son.
